

Be

Everything reflects from within
You're a mirror to the action inside
You can sometimes shelter behind a mask
But truth you cannot hide.

There will come a time when it will appear
Much to your own distress
Fear not, you are the character you are
That need not suppress.

Go forward and shine in your natural beauty
With the colors from your soul
Go out and play your very own part
And enjoy your very own role.

Do not allow unfounded hurt
From souls who need to learn
Understand it's them that cannot see
The truth in their concern.

Margi